

Weekly Social Intelligence Report

Brand: Amazon

Executive Summary: Amazon's recent sentiment analysis reveals a concerning 55.3% negative sentiment from 141 mentions. This negativity is primarily driven by dissatisfaction with app user experience and technical errors. Conversely, there's an opportunity to leverage existing positive feedback on app UX from other customers.

|                 |                                                        |
|-----------------|--------------------------------------------------------|
| Top Risk        | Negative sentiment driven by App UX & Technical Errors |
| Top Opportunity | Customers praise Amazon's app_ux                       |

Brand: Flipkart

Executive Summary: Flipkart is experiencing significant negative sentiment, accounting for 31.7% of its 145 mentions, primarily driven by dissatisfaction with Customer Support & Service. However, customer feedback highlights Flipkart's app user experience as a strong positive. Addressing service issues while leveraging app strengths is crucial for improving overall sentiment.

|                 |                                                         |
|-----------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
| Top Risk        | Negative sentiment driven by Customer Support & Service |
| Top Opportunity | Customers praise Flipkart's app_ux                      |

Brand: Meesho

Executive Summary: Meesho received 151 mentions, with a significant 28.5% reflecting negative sentiment primarily driven by delivery and packaging issues. Conversely, customer feedback consistently highlights the excellent app user experience as a key strength. Addressing logistics challenges while leveraging strong UX can improve overall satisfaction.

|                 |                                                          |
|-----------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| Top Risk        | Negative sentiment driven by Delivery & Packaging Issues |
| Top Opportunity | Customers praise Meesho's app_ux                         |

Brand: Myntra

Executive Summary: Myntra exhibits a 17.4% negative sentiment ratio across 144 mentions, predominantly driven by concerns regarding delivery and packaging, which represents the top risk. Conversely, customer praise for the app's user experience highlights a key strength and opportunity. Addressing logistics issues while leveraging the strong app UX should be a priority.

|                 |                                                          |
|-----------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| Top Risk        | Negative sentiment driven by Delivery & Packaging Issues |
| Top Opportunity | Customers praise Myntra's app_ux                         |